A SHOCKING DISCOVERY.

A Tragedy in Apartment House in Suburb of London.

MAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND CHILD AND THEN HIMSELF.

LONDON, June 2. A horrible crime came to light to-day in one of the poorer quarters of Kentish Town, a suburb of London. The neighbors of a family consisting of parents and two sons, who had been noted for some time of the family had been seen for some time and upon opening the apartments the head of the family, wife and child were found dead in the room. The man had first killed his wife and child by cutting their throats and then killed himself in the same manner.

No reason is known for the crime.

FIRE RECORD.

The Million Dollar Blaze.

NEW YORK, June 2. Five hours out in the "Coaching Works" fronting the foot of Avenue A, early this morning, a fire which had been started in the building, and which was returning soon was made for him by his two brothers, who found his lifeless body hanging from the limb of an apple tree on the premises. He had climbed on the limb of the tree, and placing a rope around his neck, jumped off.

Marston was about 50 years of age. He has been in it for 15 years, some time ago, and always very dependent on account of being unable to obtain a pension.

Coroner Rider viewed the body, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

FEARFUL EXPLOSION.

Resulted in Death and Wounding of Several

PEPPERICKSBURG, Va., June 2. A terrible accident, resulting in the death of five men and the wounding of eight others, all dangerously, occurred at J. L. Jordan's saw mill, at Bowling Green, Caroline County, yesterday.

The men were at work near the engine room when the boiler burst and they were caught in a shower of water and steam and scalded. The water, several of them being buried out of the water, several of them were

BOUTELLE &amp; BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle &amp; Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Ellis and Courier."

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1891.

The headline artist of the Boston Post evidently does not possess a very close idea of the location of one of the oldest and most famous American corporations, Bowdoin, for in summing up the Harrow-Bowdoin race he alludes to the Maine crew as the "New Brunswick" oarsmen, but his ignorance is no deeper than that of the reporter who describes the race as follows: "The New Brunswick boys were rowing a terrific stroke of forty per minute, and alludes to Bowdoin's eightics the "New Brunswick" men, in several places—Portland Express."

Possibly the reporters were all busy and the tariff editor of the Post took in the boat race. At any rate the writer displays that same disregard of accuracy and knowledge of facts so often noticed in the tariff articles in the Post.

It will be seen elsewhere that Chief Engineer Burpee has returned from his trip of exploration for the Bangor and Aroostook road and reports two possible routes, each feasible and favorable. The engineering corps began work on the preliminary survey Monday. This week Saturday there will be a railroad meeting in Bangor to see what action the town will take in aid of the road, and those well informed think there is but little doubt that five per cent. of the valuation of the town will be subscribed. If this is done then Bangor by giving the project that liberal support it certainly should receive can make it possible to commence the actual construction as soon as the location is approved and the working plans ready. There is every indication that our merchant will subscribe generously to the preferred stock. Everyone, of course, admits the great importance of such a line to the future growth of Bangor.

The fight between the Campbell and Campbell men in Ohio is getting very hot. When our Democratic brethren get excited they tell the truth about each other with a frankness that leaves nothing to the imagination. Here is an extract from one of the organs edited by a henchman of Gov. Campbell:

"Six years have passed away since the hard of John R. McLean has been visible in the political arena. That was 1885, and the next year the deepest and most serious resulting to the entire Democratic party from the part played in the election by John H. McLean. In Cincinnati there was Fourth Ward A, where the ballot box was outrageously tampered with and political influence was an almost fatal blow. For nearly two years following that election the courts of Hamilton county were engaged in sending Democrats to the penitentiary for violating the election laws. Cincinnati then tried to give his Republican majority, and all the Republican papers charged the Democratic party as a set of ballot box thieves, tally-sheaf forgers, and all kinds of other election criminals."

Another Southern statesman has decided his opposition to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. This time it is Senator Pugh, of Alabama, and his opposition is not based upon the silver views of the ex-President. On the contrary he charges Mr. Cleveland with disrespects to the South and that is something the Bourbon can never forgive. Here is what Senator Pugh is reported as saying:

"Mr. Cleveland has gone out of his way recently to do all he can to injure the South, to his addition to his German friends at Buffalo the other day he went out of his way to insult the South. When the government was assailed by rebellious hands, were the South used to be called to the rescue? Nobody, nowadays, seems to make an issue about the vocabulary that should be applied to that momentous event, but to say the least it was very bad taste in Mr. Cleveland to go out of his way to do all he can to injure the Southern rebels and help them to make him President, and if he is ever to be President again they will be necessary to his election. Those rebellious hands will be at the ballot box in the next Presidential election, and with them will be the present at the next Democratic National Convention, and their owners will have something to say as to whether Mr. Cleveland or some other man shall be the candidate. The South respects its political friends to speak of it with consideration and respect. Mr. Cleveland has gone out of the way to insult it."

Now what will the dear Mugwumps do? They have been the rivals of the Bourbons, themselves in championing Southern outrages, but this attack upon their idol places them in a hard position. It would indeed be funny if Mr. Cleveland after doing the bidding of the Southern brigadiers throughout his administration, should get tripped up by his reference to the assault upon the Government to the assault upon the "rebels" in his Buffalo speech.

Facts About Tin Plate.

The Metal Worker, after a thorough investigation of the facts in the case, decided that the progress already made by the new American tin plate industry warranted the opening of a separate department in its pages devoted exclusively to the subject of the plates. We quote the following from its report on the present status of tin plate manufacturing this country:

The works which have actually made up to the present time are as follows:

1. The United States Iron and Tin Plate Company, Limited, Dumfries, P.A.
2. P. H. Laufman & Co., Limited, Apsley, P.A.
3. The St. Louis Stampings Company, St. Louis, Mo.

The works which are known to be in course of erection are as follows:

1. The British Rolling Mill Company, Cleveland, Ohio.
2. Somers Bros., Brooklyn, N.Y.
3. The Lewis Steel and Tin Plate Company, Jersey City, N.J.
4. The Welsh-American Tin Plate Company, Philadelphia.

Works are projected at Chicago by the Chicago Tin Plate Company, composed of Richard J. Reis and others; and at Elwood, Ind., by A. L. Conger and associates, who are interested in Indiana plate-glass works. Other proposed concerns the plans for the time being have been completed for some time, and bids are being received on the machinery.

The Anderson Tin Plate Company, Anderson Ind., is also in the field. Still other works have been projected, and no doubt additions to this list will be made in a very short time.

The list of works both building and projected, is therefore seen to number but 11. Of these, Somers Brothers, the St. Louis Stampings Company, and Lewis Brothers will for some time consume in their own works about all the tin plate they make. The others will manufacture for the open market.

A meeting of manufacturers who have entered upon the business of making the plate was held in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, some weeks ago, and an adjourned meeting was held in the Hotel Anderson, Pittsburgh, on May 20. A permanent organization was effected under the name, "Tin Plate Manufacturers' Association of the United States." The membership was rigidly restricted to those actually engaged in the industry, making tin sheets, or sheets ready for canning, or bars ready to roll into sheets. The firms and companies represented by delegates and by proxies at the meeting included the following:

The British Rolling Mill Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

United States Iron and Tin Plate Company, Dumfries, P.A.

Marshall Bros. & Co., Philadelphia.
Scottsdale Iron and Steel Company, Scottsdale, Pa.

Shoenberger & Co., Pittsburgh.
Stevens Iron Company, Canal Dover, Ohio.

John C. & Son, Masillon, Ohio.
The Welsh-American Tin Plate Company, Philadelphia.

Pigott Rolling Mill Company, Piqua, Ohio.

W. Dewees Wood & Co., Pittsburgh.
P. H. Laufman & Co., Apollo, Pa.

Standard Iron Company, Bridgeport, Ohio.

Jennings Bros. & Co., Pittsburgh.
Eau Claire Iron and Steel Company, Eau Claire, Wis.

St. Louis Stampings Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Kirkpatrick & Co., Pittsburgh.
Highland Electropatting Company, Apollo, Pa.

M. A. O. Kitteridge, editor of the Metal Worker, read a paper at the meeting giving a bird's-eye view of the new industry as found in the course of a long trip just ended, which he visited nearly all the tin plate works. We extract what he says: "The great American scoller is abroad, and before you have had time to construct your buildings or install your machinery he is saying, with a sneer: 'I told you it would not be much of an effort, and how little you will have to pay for your plant.' This great American scoller is abroad, and before you have had time to construct your buildings or install your machinery he is saying, with a sneer: 'I told you it would not be much of an effort, and how little you will have to pay for your plant.' These scollars are making tin plates on paper. They are making tin plates. Meanwhile, don't you see that the poor workman is being taxed out of his eye teeth by this iniquitous tariff."

I am not ashamed to say, we will make the best plates the world has ever seen for anything short of this would be contrary to the genius of American manufacture. I am sure, also, that you will have little respect for the obsolete nomenclature now used in the tin plate industry, and the absurd class of classification which prevails as you have for the antiquated and unscientific ways in which Welshmen go about making tin plates, for both of these things are entirely American. We will make your tin plates just as your customer and consumer wants to have them, because, being an American and dealing with Americans, we will not be backward in making him what he wants, and because, in dealing with him, we will do it to your pecuniary interests to meet him half way."
